This model was not actually created by me it is the product of a friend of mine who was completely new to 3d modeling. This was from his second lesson with me where I taught him Fusion 360 and how to use basic tools to produce a 2d sketch. From there I showed him how to extrude the 2d sketch into a 3d object. Afterward, I showed him how to use the Cura slicing software and how to print the object that he made.
